EISEMANN CENTER'S SPOTLIGHT SERIES PRESENTS
"GIRLS NIGHT: THE MUSICAL" OCTOBER 23-25, 2008

RICHARDSON, TX – The Eisemann Center's Spotlight Series will open the 2008-2009 Season with Louise Roche's Girls Night: The Musical running October 23-25, 2008. This hysterically funny show brings together women of all ages, who enjoy comedies, musicals and parties. The show has toured all over the United Kingdom and America receiving standing ovations from the audience as well as from the media. The media has hailed it "a non-stop laugh out loud comedy," "an unadulterated feast of fun and music" and "a must-see for women everywhere."

Girls Night tells the story of all women. The story takes place in a karaoke bar where four lifetime friends and their angel friend relive all they have been through of heartaches, tragedies, joy and successes. Together they remember their early years, celebrate their current lives and look to the future, all while belting out their favorite karaoke anthems such as I'm Every Woman, Say A Little Prayer, Dancing Queen, etc.

The story behind Girls Night: The Musical is an inspiration to any would-be writer still waiting for a big break. One night, five years ago, Louise Roche, a mother of three children under 5, went out with a group of friends to see a Shane Richie musical. She looked around the theater, saw that the audience was mostly women and thought, "I could do this...I could write a show that lots of women will enjoy watching." Since then, Roche has written several theatre shows, a TV show and a novel.

Girls Night has gotten great reviews on the UK tour as well as the US tour. BBC Online said, "Girls Night has the energy and appeal to bring a broad smile and perhaps a jiggle of a dance," Herald Express wrote, "The girls went wild in the aisles" and the Scottsdale Republic hailed the show with comments such as, "the actresses sang like rock stars" and "...sent the audience into fits of laughter."

Girls Night: The Musical opens on Thur., October 23, at 8:00 pm and continues Fri., October 24, at 8:00 pm; Sat., October 25, at 2:00 pm and closes Sat., October 25, at 8:00 pm.
