The Richardson Civic Art Society (RCAS) is a nonprofit volunteer-run organization providing a support system locally for the visual arts. Active season is from September through May with most meetings and shows held at the Richardson Public Library.

RCAS’ most prestigious exhibit is the annual Regional Art Exhibition and Sale at the Charles W. Eisemann Center for Performing Arts. It is a juried show, open to all Texas artists, where each artist may enter photos of up to three pieces of artwork for consideration. Approximately 60-80 pieces from those submitted are juried for acceptance into the show. After the installation, the judge selects the winners from the exhibited artwork and the winners receive cash or merchandise awards along with a certificate and ribbon. The Best of Show artwork is purchased by RCAS and presented to the City of Richardson to be permanently displayed at the Richardson Public Library. Gallery hours are 12:00 pm – 5:00 pm Monday through Friday and during all public events. The exhibit is free and open to the public. The Charles W.
